Unsecured property cause of increase in burglaries, thefts

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Bay St. Louis Police are investigating a recent outbreak of burglaries and thefts concentrated mostly in residential areas.

Detective David Murtagh believes several of the incidents were committed by youth because of the relative low value and types of items taken.

Property reported missing includes canned food, a billfold, umbrellas, a blanket, television and frozen foods.

These items were all taken in four burglaries reported Feb. 7-9.

During the past two weeks there have been seven thefts.

A large percentage of items taken in the thefts is due to people not securing their property in any fashion, Murtagh said.

"By leaving property sitting in the yard or just laying inside the garage gives ample opportunity for a thief to relieve people of their goods," he said.

Murtagh also said that several items have been taken from parked cars.

"An unlocked car is an open invitation to steal," he added.

Murtagh believes that only a few persons are responsible for all 11 incidents reported.

He added that possible suspects were being questioned in connection with the incidents and that the police also have a suspect in the burglaries.

Thefts and burglaries reported include:
—216 Ballentine St., Feb. 9, television, $5, billfold and two credit cards.

—306 Citizen St., Feb. 7, two umbrellas, frozen food and a blanket.

—505 Main St., canned food, $16 and report of damaged television.

—Hille Chevrolet, Feb. 8, paint spraying guns and respirators.

—Ronnie Artiges construction site, Feb. 5, 66 sheets of plywood valued at $500.

—St. Stanislaus High School, Jan. 29, class ring.

—Bay Royale Apartments, Feb. 5, Fuji bicycle.

—634 Washington St., Feb. 5, four tires removed from parked car.

—509 Highland Dr., Feb. 5, assortment of tools.

—No. 45 Easterbrook, Feb. 9, citizen's band radio and power booster taken from vehicle.

—500 South Beach Blvd., Jan. 29, flashlight and air pressure gauge.

Havens to meet with utility users

By DENA BISNETTE
Customers of Johnson Utilities water systems in Hancock and West Harrison Counties will meet Feb. 19 with Public Service Commissioner Lynn Havens.

The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. at Gulf Shore Baptist Assembly in Henderson Point and will last "all day if necessary," Havens said Tuesday in a telephone interview from Jackson.

He said he and members of his staff expect to deal with complaints on a one-by-one basis.

Consumers attending the meeting should bring any bills or other documents pertaining to the complaint, he added.

Those who have problems with Johnson systems but are unable to attend may call the commissioner's office collect at 961-5440, Havens said.

Three communities in Hancock County are presently served by Johnson Utilities, a Vicksburg-based firm recently investigated by the commission in connection with numerous complaints of poor service and health violations.

Those communities include Clermont Harbor, Jourdan River Shores and Gulf Park Estates, according to Clermont Harbor Civic Association President Mary Caillier.

In addition, Henderson Point and Pass Christian in West Harrison County are on a Johnson-owned system.

Gerald Roux, president of Henderson Point-Pass Christian Isles Civic Association, said matters to be discussed include allegations of questionable billing practices, operation of unhealthy and contaminated systems, poor treatment of customers, excessive water connection fees, inadequate service and violation of state and county health permit codes.

Havens said that the commission had conducted a three-month investigation of Johnson, mostly concentrating on an engineering study involving waters near Johnson systems.

In March 1985, the commission provided Johnson with a rate increase earmarked for improvements for the systems involved. Many of these, like Clermont Harbor, are systems more than 20 years old that were purchased from private owners.

The commissioner said consumers have continued to contact his office with service and billing complaints.

A team of auditors has been working on billing complaints and problems are expected to be corrected during the current billing cycle.

"I have been patient with Johnson and I feel I have given him the necessary revenue to improve these systems. I have seen some improvements but mostly he is not complying," Havens explained.

"I am not going to reward bad service with rate increases."

The meeting will be Havens' second meeting with Johnson consumers on the Gulf Coast, where he said most of the complaints have been concentrated. The other was this week in Jackson County for consumers of the Gautier Utility District.

If the commission confirms the allegations against Johnson Utilities, the firm will be given 90 days to take some action toward correcting any problems found.

If no action is taken, the commissioner can declare Johnson Utilities no longer qualified under state regulations to operate a water system and can obtain a court order allowing someone else, possibly one of the civic associations involved, to operate each system until other arrangements can be made.

"We have to be very careful not to leave these people stranded without any type of service," the commissioner explained.

Havens added that a representative from the State Board of Health is expected to be at the meeting in Henderson Point because the commission does not have jurisdiction over all of the alleged violations.

The State Board of Health presently has a lawsuit pending against Johnson in Hancock County Chancery Court. The suit alleges violations in water quality monitoring, procedures required by state law, with the violations including the substitution of water from other sources for Clermont Harbor water in quality tests.

Woman files false arrest suit against US-90 convenience store

By DENA BISNETTE

A Hancock County woman has filed a lawsuit in Hancock County Circuit Court against the owners and operator of a Waveland convenience store, alleging that she was falsely arrested and charged with petit larceny.

Bertha A. Huff, 69, has alleged that the operators of the store, Junior Food Store No. 317 on US-90 in Waveland, had her arrested after refusing to allow her to make arrangements to pay for gasoline.

She is asking for $500,000 in actual damages and $2,000,000 in punitive damages.

The suit states that Huff purchased $10 worth of gasoline at the store on Oct. 9 and the defendants "negligently or intentionally permitted the pump to continue pumping gasoline so that gas pumped in the plaintiff's vehicle exceeded the $10 she had paid for."

The defendants include Sunshine Junior Stores Incorporated, a

Baldwin export license delayed

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Baldwin Aircraft's export license application has been returned to the company because of a shortage of information.

Baldwin, who announced plans last October to locate an aircraft production facility in Hancock County, was told to submit another application including detailed information on company background, scope of use for proposed aircraft, materials to be used in construction and detailed drawings of the plane.

The company plans to build 532 surveillance planes at the facility to be built at Stennis Airpark with funds derived from the sale of $20 million of industrial revenue bonds.

The State Department is trying to make certain that the plane cannot readily be converted to a fighter plane, Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner said.

Ladner discussed the export license holdup last week with the staff of Sens. John Stennis and Thad Cochran and Rep. Trent Lott in Washington.

In spite of the delay Baldwin officials are reportedly moving ahead with plans to sell the industrial revenue bonds and generally getting finances in order for the construction of the facility.

However the company will have to overcome major restraints placed on the issuance of the bonds by the Department of Economic Development.

Restrictions include that the bonds be guaranteed by a letter of credit from a major financial institution or that insurance be obtained on the bond payments. Other restrictions include that the company receive an Urban Development Action Grant

Speed tailoring techniques to be taught in workshop

A workshop teaching speed tailoring techniques will be February 24-28 in the Extension Conference Room, 725 A Dunbar Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

Participants will construct a blazer during the workshop and are required to bring a sewing machine, be advanced seamstresses and pre-register.

Those interested in attending should telephone Darlene Underwood, Extension Home Economist, at 467-5456.

A list of additional supplies and equipment will be given at that time. Class size is limited.

Tailoring is using sewing techniques to build and mold permanent shape in clothing. The result is a tailored jacket or coat with a firm, smooth look and a well-defined outline.

Speed tailoring techniques use fusible interfacings, steam, and pressing to shape and mold the garment. Most hand sewing is eliminated therefore considerable time is saved using these construction methods.

and that the bonds be bought by banks or institutional investors.

The lack of information available on the company contributed to the addition of the requirements on the bonds, said Lucien Bourgeois, secretary to the economic council.

Bourgeois said adding these requirements is done frequently when the company's assets are substantially below the amount being requested in bonds.

Prospects of the company meetin two of the restrictions placed be the council are slim in view of recent developments.

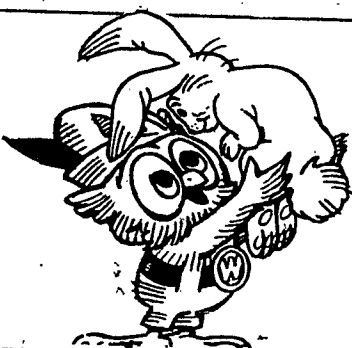

Baldwin was informed this week that the application for the UDAG grant had been returned to the city of Bay St. Louis, which originally submitted the application.

Steed Robinson of South Mississippi Planning and Development District, who prepared the application for the city, said the application was returned because of a temporary freeze on the UDAG funds.

The UDAG program is reportedly at the top of a list of federal program under consideration for a substantial cut or elimination.

Baldwin will be unable to meet a third restriction if pending legislation is approved which would be effective Jan. 1, 1988 and would prevent banks from purchasing industrial bonds.

Bourgeois added that even without meeting the other requirements, if Baldwin could get the bonds guaranteed or insured the economic council could allow the bond sale but a second action by the council is required.

TIGHT NERVES

This materialistic age is often blamed for all our frustrated and nervous tension. When the person becomes tense and overwhelmed with anxiety, he is urged to take tranquilizers or rest from work. But it is a hard and poor remedy to follow when you are tied up inside. Authorities in our field have found that nervousness crops up on a person from the inside, and they usually blame outside conditions for causing them to be tense and even depressed. Studies indicate that there is a physical reason for nervousness, that it can and often does result from an interrupted nerve supply. This irritates the nervous system and slows down the life currents in the body. A Chiropractic examination can detect an interruption in the nerve supply and proper care will aid in restoring normal nerve function, your peace of mind, and vigorous health again.

The north winds and cold temperatures did not put a damper on Mardi Gras celebrations in Hancock County.

Both the Krewe of Real People and Triton paraded before numerous spectators, even though some used blankets to ward off the north winds.

Crowds appeared to be normal for both parades, and we want to commend everyone for their participation.

Next year Mardi Gras will be later, and possibly it will not be as cold as last Tuesday.

Today has been designated as Tornado Awareness Day in Hancock County.

We can remember many years ago when a tornado in the county was something very rare, but that has not been the case in recent weeks.

Weather permitting, a tornado drill will be conducted in Hancock County by Civil Defense Director Bobby Boudin.

The purpose of the drill is to give residents, businesses, hospital, and schools the opportunity to see if they can receive the warning and take necessary actions to save lives.

The three coastal counties are prime areas for tornados with a combined total of 72 reportedly occurring during the period of 1950-84.

In case some of you have forgotten, tomorrow is Valentine's Day. If you did, there still is time to remember the one you love.

Happy Valentine's Day to everyone.

Challenger

Through the pages of history stroll so many great explorers and courageous pioneers.

From the most ancient times, men like Ericsson, Columbus, and Magellan have searched the oceans and sailed the seas to discover what lies beyond the horizon.

Courageous men like Lewis and Clark and so many others after them traveled the Great West to expand the borders of a young, growing nation. Plain, everyday men and women, not unlike you and me, drove covered wagons and even pulled crude handcarts through the wilderness and over the plains to develop and settle the West.

Men have always felt a special drive to discover the unknown, to search new lands, to explore the depths of the sea and even the distant reaches of space.

To that same Pilgrim spirit, the Space Shuttle Challenger and that splendid seven were dedicated when their last expedition suddenly ended so terribly, so sadly today.

IN CONGRESS

By Cong. Trent Lott

THE PUBLIC INTEREST

The Congress now has before it a budget recommendation for fiscal year 1987 which takes the deficit down from its present $220 billion to about $144 billion.

President Reagan proposes to accomplish that deficit reduction without raising taxes and with an increase in defense spending.

While there are a couple of features that I would change if the recommendation of the budget were my responsibility, I think the President has given us a good document with which to work, and I feel certain that a lot of what he has proposed will become law.

I am for a strong national defense. In order to have a secure world and peace and an arms control agreement, we must keep our defense strong.

That includes a steady national security program and some new programs which will cost more money. At the same time, I think we can find some savings in the defense area by examining our priorities carefully.

I also am convinced we can cut below the President's request in the foreign aid area.

But my suggestions aside, we should not approach the budget from an interest group by interest group standpoint. If we dissect it piece by piece, any one of us could find a part he did not like. That's no way to come up with a budget.

What is uppermost in importance in making the hard decisions on the budget is the overall good of the American people — the public interest, instead of various special interests.

What we in the Congress should be trying to accomplish and what the President is trying to accomplish is to reduce the deficit so that we can have economic growth, lower interest rates, controlled inflation and more people working.

That's what we're working for, and if we'll keep our eye on the big picture instead of fighting all these individual skirmishes day in and day out, we can do what's right for the people of this country and for the economy of the country.

There are two ways to look at this deficit-reducing era. We can look at the glass as half-empty or half-full. Those who look at the glass as half-empty will bemoan the new austerity and hardship brought on by the Gramm-Rudman budget balancing law.

From them, you'll hear the projected horror stories and will be almost convinced that Congress has managed to legislate the end of the world.

Those who see the glass as half-full, on the other hand, realize that to put our economy on a sound and healthy footing, we must put our government's fiscal house in order.

We must move toward a greater balance between spending and revenues if we are to hold down interest rates and inflation and stimulate investment, growth and jobs.

We can't go on with $200 billion deficits each year and remain a stable economy. Only by bringing down those deficits will we begin to fill that glass once again.

News From The Governor's Office

Gov. Bill Allain

GRAMM-RUDMAN WORSENS STATE BUDGET CRISIS

The Fiscal Management Board and Legislative Budget Committee, meeting in joint session last week, voted to reduce another $81 million from the FY87 state budget. The bulk of these reductions was caused by Congressional and Presidential approval of the Gramm-Rudman act. Under this act, money coming into our state would be reduced by a minimum of $60 million. In addition, our fiscal experts predict that oil and gas severance will be down another $21.5 million, necessitating the total cut of $81 million.

Not only is it a tragedy that we must cut another $81 million from the state budget, the bad news is that these cuts will again come from only a portion of the state budget. Let me explain. As I have been saying all year, under law, the Governor can only make reductions in 43 percent of the state budget — those monies called "general funds." Money called "special funds" (such as the Highway Department's $400-plus million) are protected from any cuts.

When we first started cutting budgets, as required by law, last November, we could cut only 43 percent of the budget. As these programs were reduced and the others were left in tact, the special funds started making up an even greater portion of the budget. Today, we can cut only 40 percent of the state budget.

The problem with the $81 million in further reductions we are now facing is the fact that the Legislature has already approved about one-half of the state budget. With the programs that have already been funded for the year and the programs that are required by law for funding, the $81 million in additional cuts will come from only 19.3 percent of the state budget. This means that these remaining programs will take another 11.5 percent cut in their budgets.

This devastating cut will occur in agencies that were cut during the present year by 5 percent. And these are vital programs to our state, including universities, mental health, highway patrol, drug enforcement, etc.

I have made several recommendations to the Legislature to solve this problem, but most have been ignored or, worse, defeated during this session.

First, I still believe all state budget funds should go into one pot. If we keep protecting certain sacred cow agencies, we won't be just reducing government, we'll be out of it completely. We won't have to worry about consolidation, we'll worry about abolition. And all that will be left are the special fund agencies.

Secondly, I recommended that we consolidate universities and that we reorganize the 37 boards and seven agencies dealing with transportation into one department. Both these proposals died without a vote in the Legislature. The lack of action on these measures means continued business as usual in this state.

The time has come to begin innovative programs in this state. We cannot survive if we continue operating this state as we have in the past. It's time to begin running the state's biggest business — state government — like a business, with a strong chief executive officer, consolidated departments, streamlined accounting principles and practices, and long-range planning for limited resources. If we don't do this, state government will cease to provide the services that taxpayers expect when they pay us.

STAR AWARDS

The search is under way again this year. Mississippi's outstanding high school seniors and the state's most outstanding teachers are being sought out for special recognition.

The time is nearing for the annual awarding of Star honors for high school seniors and their teachers by the Mississippi Economic Council.

Now more than 20 years old, the Council's Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition (Star) is designed to identify outstanding scholars among high school seniors and to provide awards for those scholars and teachers designated by the seniors as Star Teachers.

In addition to Star awards at the local level, area Star Students and Teachers are identified and state Star winners are recognized. Scholarship awards are presented by the Council to state Star Students and Teachers.

Now another step in the Star Program has been taken. Last year the Council created the Star Hall of Fame which honors teachers who receive Star recognition for at least ten years. Three such teachers were honored last year.

More than 300 public and private high schools participate regularly in the Star Program. A few schools, however, still choose not to participate. You will want to encourage your school to be a part of the Star Program, helping to assure that your outstanding seniors and their teachers received the recognition they deserve.

Bay teacher sees bias in newspaper article on superintendent selection petition

The Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

I'm feeling Custerish since your Feb. 6 article with eight quotes to one in favor of the Bay-Waveland school employees' petition supporting Mr. Magee for superintendent.

May I reply to the barrage of statements from those who feel that no intimidation was involved in the petition?

Certainly no one used direct threats to get signatures, but the petition itself, a public record of who did and did not support their potential employer, was a threat to some people. They signed it because they were worried that it could be used against them if they did not.

If I confront people with something that I know is threatening and ask them for something, and they give it to me because they feel threatened, I have coerced them.

The same holds true for anyone who authorized me to do it, provided they too know that the thing I am confronting people with is threatening.

Let me add that it makes no difference whether I actually intend to use the threatening object or not.

Try telling the police you had no intention of using the gun you were holding when you asked the teller for some money.

The question, then, of whether or not coercion occurred with respect to the petition hinges on whether or not those who authorized or circulated it understood its threatening character.

If so, it makes no difference if, as Mr. Blanchette and Mr. Rhodes said, it was entirely the idea of teachers; if, as Mr. McCullough said, he didn't think it was against school policy but would ask Mr. Gex; or if, as Mr. Cameron said, he told the carriers not to coerce anyone.

Nor does it matter if, as Mr. Baldree said, he attached a note that said to follow the dictates of conscience; if, as Mr. James said, claims of intimidation were totally untrue; or if, as the anonymous teacher said, the only intimidation came from the petition's opposers.

If, as I said, awareness of the threat existed, coercion took place; and if, as someone said, the shoe fits, wear it.

Sincerely,

Dear Editor:

On Ash Wednesday, we stood in prayer and fasting before the MAAP (Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant).

Ash Wednesday begins a season of conversion and repentance for Christians (Lent) and we feel the need to call and be called to conversion in our attitudes toward national security and arms build-up.

We pray that swords (and projectiles) can be converted into plowshares—that our human energy and resources can be turned to activities that build humanity, not destroy it.

The ammo plant symbolizes for us that reality—the waste of human creative energy poured into instruments of destruction.

We pray that it may change. We regret the need to celebrate the construction of 20,000 instruments designed to destroy life, during the month of January alone.

We lament the fact that 1,430 of our local citizens need to seek employment in this industry.

We do not stand in judgment over individuals who work there, since the demands of life must be met in any case.

We only invite everyone to consider when "enough is enough" and how we can use our energies to build peace among nations rather than prepare for war.

Motel owner undeserving of abuse heaped by rowdies of all ages

Dear Sir:

We witnessed an incident on Sunday, Feb. 2 that both shocked and saddened us.

A serious situation developed when a local proprietor tried to prevent a few rowdy young people from possible injury.

These impaired young adults were determined to throw their equally impaired friends in the swimming pool deep end at a local motel.

Most were in no condition to walk, much less be thrown or shoved into eight feet of cold water.

The owner of the motel simply asked them to quit. They were rude, abusive and threatening. To add to our disbelief the onlooking adults began to chant, "Throw him in, throw him in."

That our young people would behave in such a manner was sad, but that their parents and other adults would add to the general melee with such behavior is disgraceful.

We noted that one of the loudest chanters was a businessman and we wondered how he might have felt under the same circumstances had it occurred at his place of business.

Few businesses have offered more to the community during times of hurricanes and flooding, or during the happy times of Mardi Gras than the Waveland Resort Inn, and to see the owner abused in such a manner made us heartsick.

The episode did not speak well for the entire community. It would be interesting to know what out-of-town visitors thought of such behavior.

It was a sad climax to an otherwise happy day.

The north winds and cold temperatures did not put a damper on Mardi Gras celebrations in Hancock County.

Both the Krewe of Real People and Triton paraded before numerous spectators, even though some used blankets to ward off the north winds.

Crowds appeared to be normal for both parades, and we want to commend everyone for their participation.

Next year Mardi Gras will be later, and possibly it will not be as cold as last Tuesday.

Today has been designated as Tornado Awareness Day in Hancock County.

We can remember many years ago when a tornado in the county was something very rare, but that has not been the case in recent weeks.

Weather permitting, a tornado drill will be conducted in Hancock County by Civil Defense Director Bobby Boudin.

The purpose of the drill is to give residents, businesses, hospital, and schools the opportunity to see if they can receive the warning and take necessary actions to save lives.

The three coastal counties are prime areas for tornadoes with a combined total of 72 reportedly occurring during the period of 1950-84.

In case some of you have forgotten, tomorrow is Valentine's Day. If you did, there still is time to remember the one you love.

Happy Valentine's Day to everyone.

History takes various views of John Brown

By Joe Pilet
Friendship Oak Chapter
National Society, DAR
February, proclaimed American History Month, is a time for reviewing the past, to pay tribute to those whose leadership and loyalty played a role in making our nation strong. Emerson felt that John Brown should be listed and said: "He made the gallows glorious like the cross." Abe Lincoln was not in agreement and said: "John Brown's way is not the way to do it."

Let's review the history of John Brown, the abolitionist whose attempt to free the slaves cost a great many lives, including his own, and helped to bring on the Civil War. He was born in 1800 in Torrington, Conn., lived as a child in Ohio, did various types of work, married twice and fathered 20 children. Unsuccessful as a business man, his family lived insecurely.

In 1846 he was living in Springfield, Mass., and helped fugitive slaves to escape to Canada.

Brown stirred up strife, put Harper's Ferry on the map, was captured, tried, and hanged on charges of treason. He was buried in North Elba, N.Y., where he had lived for about ten years.

Without doubt John Brown caused the people to study the whole question of the extension of slavery and new parties were organized, including the Republican Party.

Lincoln joined this new party and became one of its leaders. The Republican Party stood strongly opposed to the further spread of slavery.

This party nominated Abraham Lincoln as a candidate for the presidency. The election took place in November of 1860. On Sept. 22, 1862 The Emancipation Proclamation was signed by President Lincoln and his signature was witnessed by William H. Seward, secretary of state.

Julia Ward Howe wrote the words of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." She was a writer, lecturer and social reformer. The words were sung to the tune of "John Brown's Body" and it became the major war song of the Union Forces. The words of the song were first published in the 'Atlantic Monthly.

February 14th is tree planting time

By Jim Perry
Landscape Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

It's tree planting time in Mississippi and in case you haven't marked your calendar, February 14, in addition to being Valentine's Day, is Arbor Day.

During the next few weeks, hundreds of Mississippi gardeners will take shovel in hand and add more than 600,000 trees to the Mississippi landscape.

Mississippi foresters, local nurserymen, Extension agents and school officials have done a marvelous job in developing educational programs and supplying sample seedlings for Mississippi school children. Their efforts stress the economic and aesthetic benefits of trees.

Students of all ages are surprised to learn some of the facts about trees:

* Trees are Mississippi's most important economic crop.

* Trees in the landscape increase real estate value of homes and private property.

* Our physical existence and comfort depend on shade and wind control offered by trees.

* Wildlife and other eco-systems are dependent on trees.

* Trees have even influenced historic battles which preserved or changed the course of man's progress.

In subtle ways, trees are involved in economic, political and social factors which determine man's success, comfort and psychological well being.

What a terrific program. Just think of the benefits. Yep, a lot of trees are planted, but more importantly, young people are being educated about conservation and stewardship of our agricultural and man-made environments.

The results will intensify in the next generation. Tree planting will be more familiar and a part of annual gardening work. General awareness of trees on public properties will increase. Consumers will demand trees in public, private and commercial developments. Ordinances for minimal plantings on new developments as well as protective regulations will become more common. Everyone benefits.

I say all this to give encouragement to those gardeners involved in local efforts to implement public tree planting and maintenance programs. It's a tough war. Fortunately, some battles are being won.

LOST OR STRAYED—This affectionate part-coolie female is apparently lost from a good home and anxiously seeks her masters while in temporary residence with a Bay St. Louis family. She will also accept a new owner who can provide a good home if her original owners are permanently lost. For information, call 467-0213 or 467-5437.

ETV Brief

ELIZABETH AND BURT

An affectionate film tribute to one of Hollywood's most memorable actors, 'Spencer Tracy, The Actor' hosted by Katharine Hepburn, debuts Saturday, March 15, at 6 p.m. on Channel 12, during public television's Festival '86.

A man who influenced an entire generation of actors, Spencer Tracy approached his craft pragmatically: his philosophy on acting is probably best summed up by his oft-quoted advice, "learn the lines and don't bump into the furniture."

Katharine Hepburn, Tracy's co-star and close friend for 25 years, traces the actor's career in 'Spencer Tracy, The Actor,' from his classes at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York, through his early Broadway roles, up to and including his Hollywood years.

Mississippi WIC costs lowest in Southeast

Mississippi's WIC Program boasts the best record for serving the most women, infants, and children the most food at the lowest cost per person in the Southeast.

Through the Special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC), Mississippi's monthly cost per participant is $30.50.

WIC's $23.28 monthly food package provides all the formula, baby cereal, and fruit juice a baby needs and milk, eggs, fruit juice, cereal, and either peanut butter or beans and peas for children up to age five and for pregnant and breast-feeding women.

The cost also covers administration and operation of food distribution centers in every county.

Other states in the southeast spend from $37.80 (Alabama) to $43.77 (Tennessee) per participant per month.

John Barr, director of the WIC Program for the Mississippi State Department of Health, credited direct distribution through the public health system for this state's low cost record.

"Mississippi is the only state in the nation that distributes special supplemental foods to WIC participants directly from distribution centers in each county," Barr said. "This enables us to purchase foods in quantity through a bid process, thus cutting costs and allowing Mississippi WIC to serve more eligible people with the money that's available."

WIC helps improve the outcome of pregnancies and reduce health problems associated with poor nutrition during pregnancy, infancy, and early childhood. In all county health departments and eight independent health agencies which also certify WIC participants, the program combines nutrition education, a highly nutritious food package, and medical care to pregnant and breast-feeding women, their babies, and preschool children.

Mississippi serves 60 percent of those potentially eligible for the federally-funded program, based on income level and nutritional risk. That's the highest rate of participation in the nation, with the average among other states at just 30 percent.

For FY 1985, the average number of participants per month in Mississippi was 87,782. By October, the first month in the federal fiscal year, participation had climbed to 92,437 and was still increasing.

Mississippi's WIC Program has grown steadily every year since 1975, when a beginning budget of $135,000 for five pilot counties served about 10,000 participants. From that slim start, WIC has expanded to an FY 1986 budget of $33.6 million.

"That money and the food and services it buys are extremely important to Mississippi," Barr said. "Through WIC, public health professionals continue to address the major cause of infant mortality: prematurity. Since we unfortunately still have one of the top infant death rates in the country—14.4 deaths per 1,000 live births in 1984—we must insure that our state continues to get as much WIC money as possible."

Of those enrolled in WIC in Mississippi, 95 percent actively participate in the program.

"We have the best records for reaching potential eligibles and for active participation," Barr said. "But our major objective for this year is to enroll more high risk pregnant women and infants."

"Since the first WIC food packages were prescribed more than 10 years ago," he reviewed, "WIC has not only helped improve infant mortality statistics but also strongly affected the lives of Mississippi children. The program draws many low-income women into the health service system: so regular health care has become a part of their lives. Many mothers now know the need to protect their children's health before they become sick."

Prospective participants may apply for WIC eligibility on physician or self-referral to the county health department or independent clinic serving their area. Re-certification is done at six-month intervals.

WIC is an equal opportunity program. State Department of Health and USDA policies do not permit discrimination because of race, color, national origin, sex, age, political beliefs, religion or handicap.

Anyone who needs more information may contact the program director at 2906 North State Street, Suite 501, Jackson, Mississippi, telephone 601/354-6655.

Lady Pirates close exciting season with overall 12-7

Friday night the Lady Pirates - riding a four game winning streak - traveled to Long Beach where they saw the streak come to a sudden stop.

Evelyn Gardner hit a 15-foot jump shot from the left wing with 5 seconds left in the game for Long Beach to give the Bearkittens a 47-45 victory.

Hope Bonney launched a 40-foot desperation shot from the right sideline that hit the front of the rim as time expired to conclude an exciting contest.

Bonney scored 10 points for the Pirates while Ouida Buchanan and Angel Moran led the team with 12 points, respectively.

On Saturday, the Lady Pirates traveled to Hancock North Central to conclude their regular season schedule.

Again, the team provided an exciting contest, trailing throughout the first half before exploding in the third quarter to lead 36-32.

"This team never quits and has battled back from adversity all year," said Coach Ron Kline.

"And tonight that attitude paid off in a victory."

Hope Bonney scored 17 of her 18 points in the second half and controlled the offense against North Hancock's various presses.

Kim Joseph and Ouida Buchanan dominated the backboards and inside play, scoring 12 points, respectively.

Angel Moran played another steady game scoring 11 points and showing outstanding floor leadership.

The Lady Pirates ended their regular season with a 12-6 record before losing to Forrest County High School Tuesday night in the District Tournament at Vancleave.

The Lady Pirates lost that District VIII 3A tourney game by a score of 69-48.

The Pirates jumped out to a 14-10 1st quarter lead but fell apart against Forrest County's pressing defenses.

"The officials let the teams play aggressive, and they simply outthrust us in the second quarter," said Coach Kline. "Plus, we started standing around and dribbled too much," emphasized Kline.

The third quarter found Forrest County increasing their lead to 48-34 as Hope Bonney left the game with a head injury driving for a loose ball.

Forrest County continued to dominate the game, scoring 21 points in the fourth quarter.

"They outplayed us and outflowed us," said Kline. "When you only shoot 14-30 from the free throw line, you're asking for trouble," Kline said.

"But I'm proud of our young ladies. They had to adjust to a new coach and new system and never quit. Even though they lost their last game, these girls will be winners in life. I'm proud of them, especially our seniors, and the underclassmen showed a lot of promise for the seasons to come."

The team ended the 65-66 season with a 12-7 record with Ouida Buchanan scoring 14 points, Kim Joseph 10. Freshman Stacey Theobald contributed seven points.

Pirates suffer late season losses

Pass High suffered two losses over the weekend as they dropped a 70-66 decision to Long Beach and a 65-63 loss to Hancock.

The Pirates, seeded No. 1 for the upcoming district tournament, used a number of players in the two games trying to make sure that all their players would be ready for the tournament.

"Anytime you go out and play a game you want to win, but Coach Brown and I had talked before the Long Beach game and we decided we were going to play a few of the reserves some extra time these late few games. The situation might come up in the tournament where we might need them to pull us through. Long beach and Hancock have both improved and they are always hard to beat in their own gyms," said Coach Ken Hudson.

Money going to the birds

JACKSON—Now more than ever, the Mississippi state income tax form is for the birds. And the flowers, and the salamanders, and nature trails, and more.

Officials at the Department of Wildlife Conservation say that Mississippi has become the 33rd state to adopt the state income tax checkoff as a means of raising needed funds for nongame wildlife and nonconsumptive programs.

The income tax checkoff is simply a way to permit those receiving a state tax refund to donate all or any portion of the amount (at least $1 or more) to the Mississippi Wildlife Heritage Program for nongame wildlife.

"One misunderstanding that some people have had about a checkoff program is where the money goes," wildlife agency administration director Bill Quisenberry said.

"Many folks who are not hunters and fishermen - and who want to contribute to a checkoff program - have thought their money was going to support deer, turkey, and other game programs for hunters.

"But that's not what the checkoff program is for. And it is not what Mississippi's checkoff monies will go to support," he said.

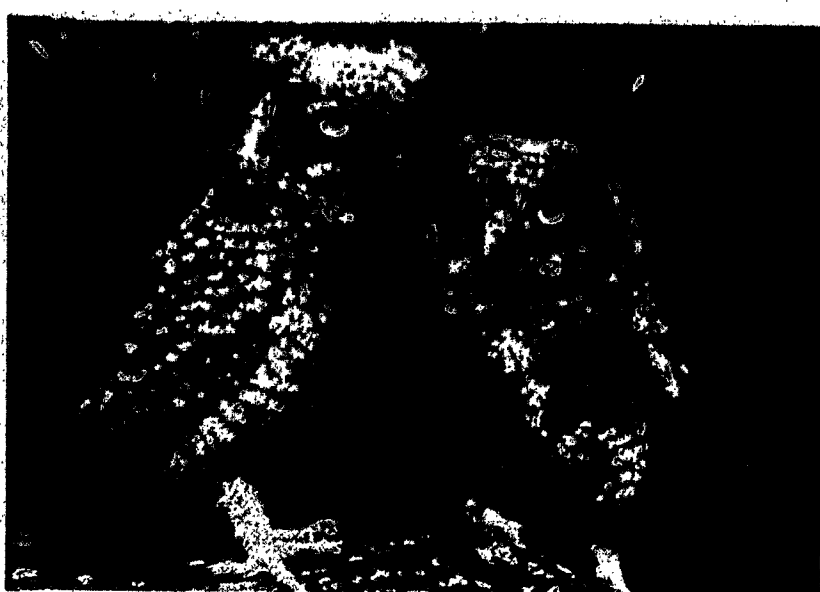

Quisenberry said that monies could be spent for constructing a wildlife observation platform or a nature trail. Checkoff funds could help fund a nongame wildlife survey in a particular area.

"There are many ways that checkoff revenues can be used for research and development of a nongame program," Quisenberry added.

Mississippi taxpayers have begun receiving their 1985 state income tax forms. They will notice on the front of each form that line 28 is the spot where they write in the amount of their refund they want to donate to nongame wildlife. That's all there is to it.

All revenues collected under the new program will be deposited into the Mississippi Wildlife Heritage Fund. Later these monies will be used for appropriate nongame approved by the Department of Wildlife Conservation.

ALCOHOLICS DON'T SUFFER BY THEMSELVES...

THE WHOLE FAMILY SUFFERS.

It's not an unusual story. Take a successful individual who has everything going for him.
Great family, promising career and life's daily problems he tries to solve with alcohol — and sometimes drugs. Eventually, his problems will grow to include chemical dependency. Can his family handle that?

What about the successful business woman?
She's attractive, personable — and an alcoholic.
Her favorite hobby — drinking martinis at lunch and after work. How long can she stay on top?
Her home life as a wife and mother has already turned into a nightmare for her family.

ALCOHOLICS DON'T SUFFER ALONE.

At GULF OAKS HOSPITAL & CLINIC, chemical dependence is viewed as a family illness and recovery for the entire family is considered essential. If a family member or close friend is destroying their life by alcohol or drug indulgence, they need help. Professional medical help. At GULF OAKS, family involvement is an integral part of our program. Team members work with the family to help them understand the patient's problem as an illness.

DON'T SUFFER ALONE. HELP IS AVAILABLE — AND SO NEAR.
